

Customers (Logged in) Stories

As a logged in user, I want to be able to save my details, so that I can avoid retyping my details again.

Logged in user can reach their profile page by going to the navigation bar and clicking on the Account link.

Clicking the link will show a drop-down menu,

Within the drop-down menu, clicking the My Profile will redirect the user to the My Profile page.

A screenshot of a dark-themed 'YOUR PROFILE' page. The title 'YOUR PROFILE' is at the top center. Below it are two main sections: 'Default Delivery Information' on the left and 'Order History' on the right. The 'Default Delivery Information' section contains several input fields for phone number, address, city, state, zip code, and country, with an 'UPDATE INFORMATION' button at the bottom. The 'Order History' section contains a table with columns for Order Number, Date, Items, and Order Total.

Withing the My Profile page, users can edit their default delivery information, which will then auto-populate filed on the checkout page.

Details can be changed and updated but entering into the relevant field and clicking the Update Information button.

As a logged in user, I want to have my past orders viewable, so that I can verify what my past order was and view the order number.

From the previous step, we are continuing in the My Profile page.

To the right of the default delivery information, Users can see their previous orders they have made.

The order number acts a link to redirect the user to a more detailed order page.

As a logged in user, I want to be able to leave reviews on product, so that other users may be able to benefit from my opinions on my purchase.

Logged in users can go the product details page for the product they wish to leave a review for.

At the bottom of the page, users can see the review section. Filling in the review form and submitting the review will post the review.

A dark-themed review form with the title "Reviews" in white. It contains three input fields: "Title*" with placeholder text "This is a test Title for my review", "Content*" with placeholder text "This is a test review.", and "Rating*" with a dropdown menu showing "5". A teal "Submit Review" button is at the bottom right.

This is a test Title for my review ★ 5/5

This is a test review.

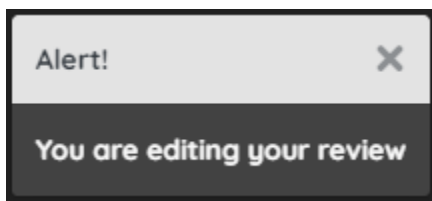

As a logged in user, I want to be able to edit my reviews, so that I can amend any errors or in case I change my opinion.

Reviews that are made by the user have the users id. If the user id matches the id of the user who made the post, the edit review button will show for the user.

Clicking the edit review button will trigger the edit review function, prepopulating the review form with the user's previous review content.

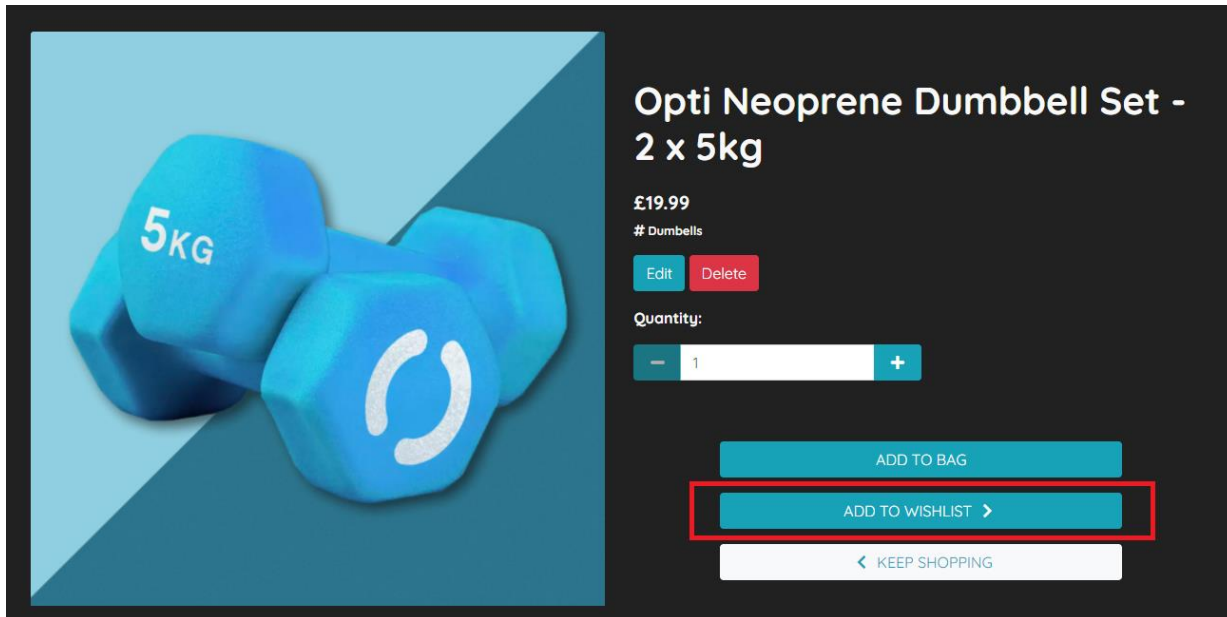

Users are notified via notification toasts, that they are editing a review.

The form has three sections: "Title*" with a text input field containing "This is a test Title for my review"; "Content*" with a text area containing "This is a test review."; and "Rating*" with a dropdown menu showing "5". At the bottom right of the form is a blue button labeled "Update Review".

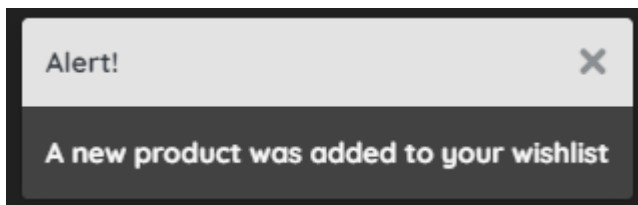

The button to submit the review will now show Update Review instead of Submit Review.

As a logged in user, I want to be able to add products to my Wishlist, so that I can view those products later.

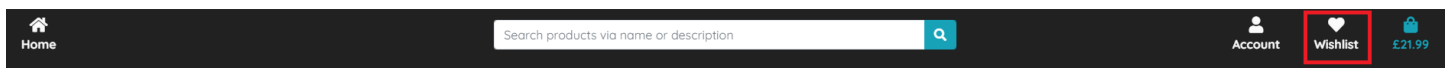

Logged in users will have an additional button show on the Product Detail page, allowing them to add products to their Wishlist.

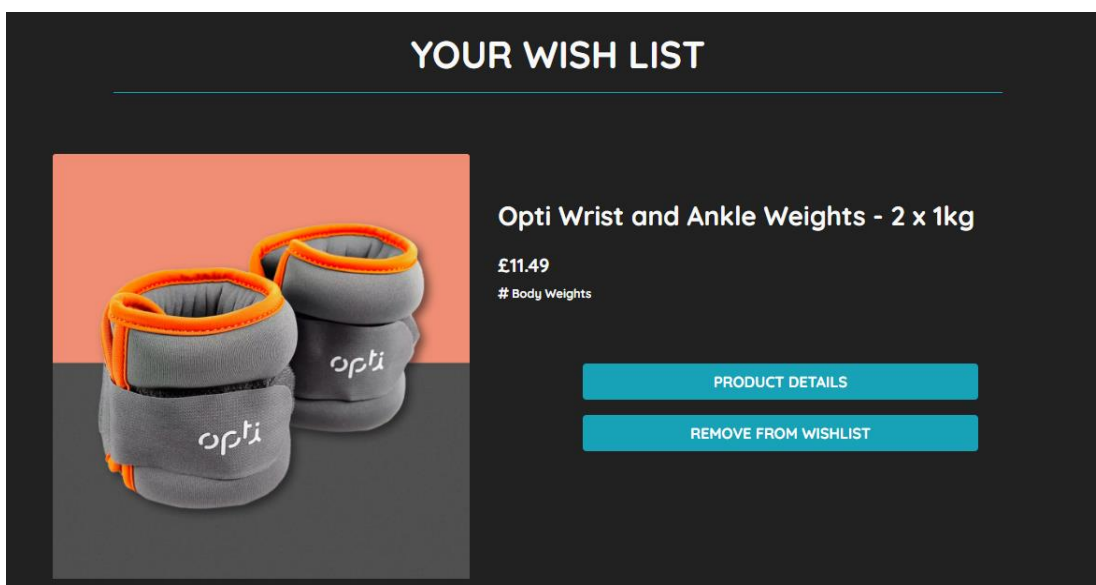

Clicking the Add to Wishlist button will add the item to the users Wishlist. This is confirmed with a notification.

Users can view their Wishlist by using the Wishlist link in the navigation bar.

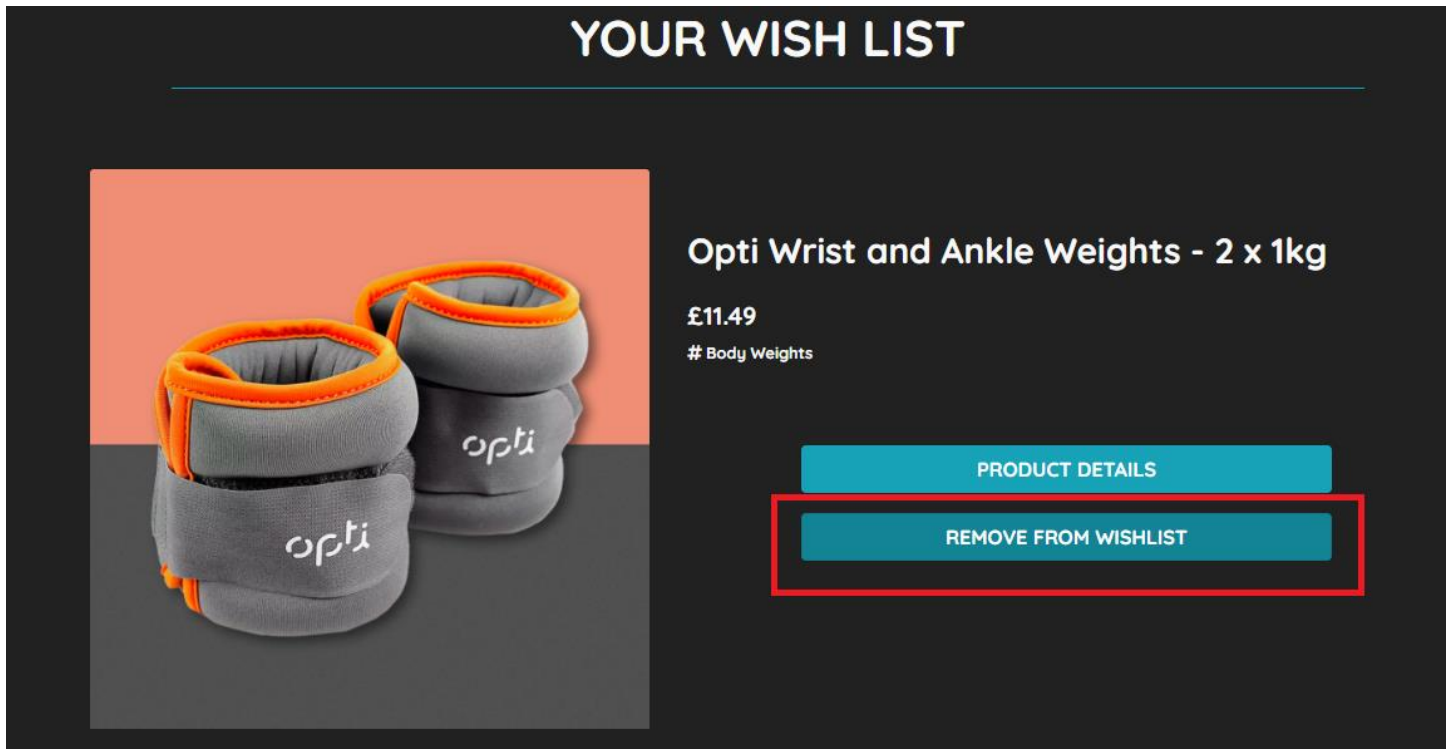

Clicking the link will redirect the user to the Wishlist page.

As a logged in user, I was to be able to remove products from my Wishlist, so that my Wishlist is only full of products I want saved.

On the wish list page, users will see to buttons to the right of the product in their Wishlist.

The remove from Wishlist button will remove the product from the users Wishlist.

Clicking the button will remove the product from the user Wishlist, Users are notified that the product has been removed from their Wishlist.
